

Student Report

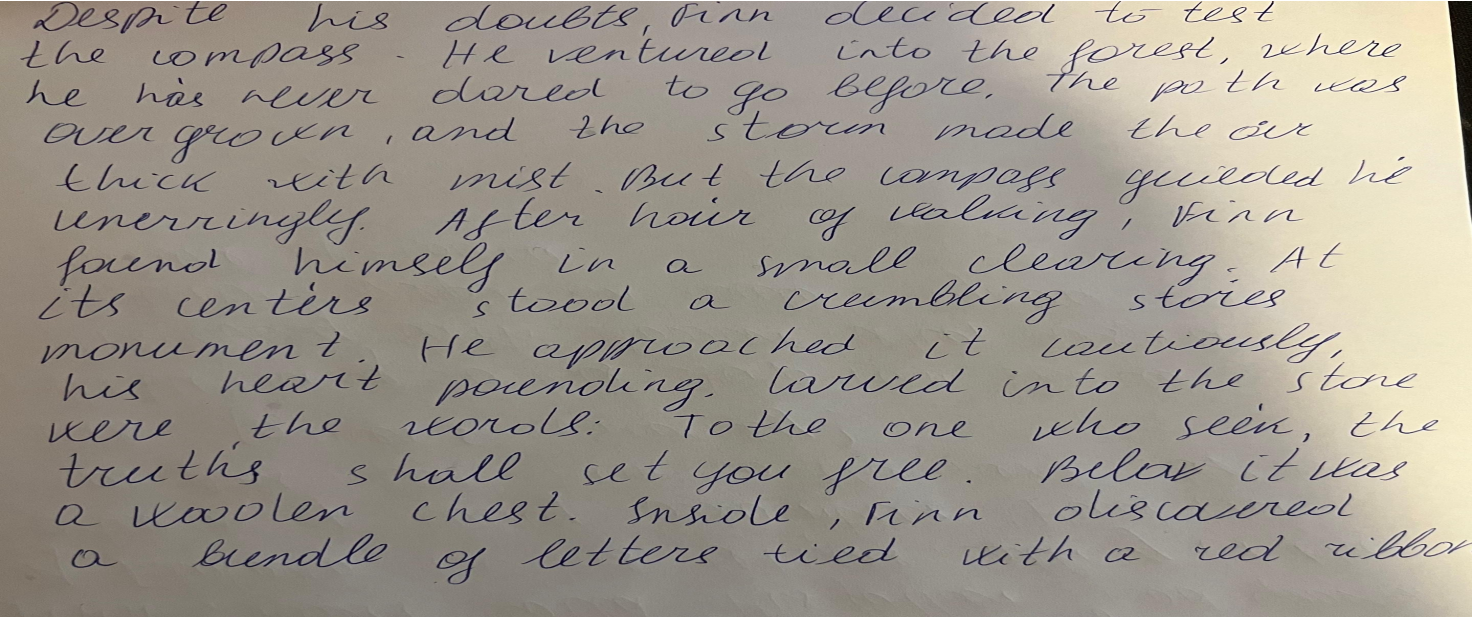

Student Name: asc

Class: asd

Subject: asd

Image 1

Uploaded Image:

Extracted Text (Errors Marked in Superscript):

Despite hi^Ss doubts Finn decided to test the compass. He ventured into the forest, where he has never dared to go before. The path was overgorown^S and the storm made the air thi^Sck with mist. But the compass guided hi^S unerringly. After hour^G of walking, Finn found hi^Smself in a small clearing. At its centers^S stood a trembling stone monument. He approached it cautiously, hi^Ss heart pounding. Carved into the stone were the words: To the one who seen^G, the truths^G shall set you free. Below it was a wooden chest. Inside, Finn discovered a bundle of letters tied with a red ribbon.

Errors in the Text:

Incorrect Text (ðŸ”” Red)	Correct Text (ðŸ”Ÿ Green)	Error Category (ðŸ”µ Blue)
overgorown	overgrown	Spelling
hi	him	Spelling
hour	hours	Grammar
centers	center	Spelling
who seen	who sees	Grammar
truths	truth	Grammar

Marked Text:

Despite his doubts Finn decided to test the compass. He ventured into the forest, where he has never dared to go before. The path was overgrown and the storm made the air thick with mist. But the compass guided him unerringly. After hours of walking, Finn found himself in a small clearing. At its centers stood a trembling stone monument. He approached it cautiously, his heart pounding. Carved into the stone were the words: To the one who seen, the truths shall set you free. Below it was a wooden chest. Inside, Finn discovered a bundle of letters tied with a red ribbon.